SEMINAR

SUMMARY OF PROGRAM

This program continues the tradition established several years ago by the Federal Bar Association to offer a program addressing the special legal problems facing our returning combat veterans. The need is greater than ever, and the problems are more complex than ever. From traumatic brain injury to post-traumatic stress syndrome to sentencing complications in the courtroom, our veterans and their lawyers are facing unprecedented hurdles in their efforts to solve legal problems, both civil and criminal. This program provides some insights into those problems, and proposes some ways to address them. With this program, we continue the dialogue with our veterans and their lawyers with the anticipation that this will become an annual event in the Northern District of Ohio.
